Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a transgenic ungulate comprising a transgene encoding lysozyme and further comprising a non-functional β -lactoglobulin allele, classified in class 800, subclass 14.
- II. Claims 11-14, drawn to a method of producing a food product using a transgenic ungulate, classified in class 800, subclass 4.
- III. Claims 15-18, drawn to a product made from milk isolated from a transgenic ungulate, classified in class 426, subclass 580; class 426, subclass 582.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the ungulate can be used to study the effects of altered protein composition of milk of ungulate offspring or to isolate lysozyme protein. Furthermore, the method of producing a food product can be carried out with milk from a different ungulate wherein the lysozyme and β -lactoglobulin levels have been altered through other means.

Inventions I and III are patentably distinct products with different composition, purpose and use. The ungulate of Invention I is a live animal that can be used to study milk composition and effects of growth and development. The products made from the milk can be made without the claimed ungulate and are used as a food. The ungulate and the food product are classified differently. It would require undue experimentation to search Inventions I and III together.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product can be made using milk other than that made through a process of Invention II requiring a transgenic ungulate.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
